

Featuring Salba Smart on Quiskaeya in September 14, 2009
Online Impressions: 1,656

Monday, September 14, 2009

Give Lunchbox a Makeover with Salba Smart Chips

I was contacted a few months ago to sample some Salba Smart products. About a week after arrangements were made to graciously send me the products

I received my products. The package included a bag of pretzels, a large bag & individual serving packets of tortilla chips and a bottle of salsa.

I cannot tell you how delicious these products are; you need to try them to understand. Seriously. Both my sons LOVED every product Tiger to this day keeps asking me to get some and because I've been on a budget I had to forgo some of the "extras". As a surprise, I ordered some of the tortilla packets. I plan to sneak them in his lunch when they come. Sneaky Mama! lol

Let me tell you a little about Salba and Salba Smart all natural products. Salba is a whole grain loaded with nutrients and minerals. It is among the only grains to be subjected to an interventional clinical study demonstrating its ability to help with the risk factors and management of type 2 Diabetes. Salba has omega-3, fiber, calcium, iron, magnesium and many other nutrients. This amazing little grain really has it all and that's not just a catchy slogan.

If you are looking to lower your cholesterol or help manage you diabetes, you may want to research into it and discuss it with your doctor. A good place to start is <http://www.salbasmart.com/index.html/>. However, if you are interested in trying Salba Smart products simply to see how they taste, you will NOT be disappointed. Unlike, a lot of super healthy foods, Salba has a wonderful taste and I can attest that even kids will love Salba Smart products.